

Criteria for Unofficial Tests, One-Day Internationals, and Twenty20 Internationals

This document establishes the formal statistical framework for defining and categorising Unofficial Test Matches, Unofficial One-Day Internationals (ODIs), and Unofficial Twenty20 Internationals (T20Is) involving elite combined, non-jurisdictional, rebel, military, private, or second-string representative entities across both Men's and Women's cricket.

This framework acts as a companion to the Emerging Nations Match Criteria, ensuring that historical, non-status representative fixtures are accurately classified by format based on their playing conditions and team structures.

1. Unofficial Test Matches (Multi-Day Cricket)

To be classified as an Unofficial Test Match (Men's or Women's), a fixture must meet the following playing conditions and team representative standards:

1.1 Playing Conditions & Format

- Duration: The match must be scheduled for a minimum of three (3) days. Historic matches scheduled for two (2) days may only be included if they were played under two-innings-per-side rules and explicitly designated as representative first-class or international fixtures by the organising boards.
- Innings: The match must be scheduled as a two-innings-per-side contest.
- Team Size: The match must be played with eleven (11) players per side.
  - Exception: Matches played as twelve-a-side (12 v 12), where twelve players are named but only eleven may bat and eleven may field in any given session, are eligible for Unofficial Test status if they were played as primary representative fixtures on major international tours.
- Overs: No artificial limit may be placed on the number of overs in an innings, except for standard declarations or natural completions.

1.2 Eligible Participants

An Unofficial Test must involve:
